【For Patients Undergoing Mammography】

★Mammography is a specialized X-ray examination of the breast.

Mammography uses a dedicated X-ray system to image soft breast tissue. It detects breast diseases, including early-stage cancers and calcifications not palpable as a lump. A standard exam takes two images of each breast from different angles to ensure full coverage and lasts 20–30 minutes.

★Breast compression is necessary during mammography.

During mammography, the breast is compressed between plates to obtain images. Because breast thickness and size vary from person to person, the breast needs to be compressed as evenly as possible to obtain clear images.

We appreciate your understanding and ask for your cooperation during your exam.

★At our facility, the examination is performed by female radiology technologists.

Medical Questionnaire

For Patients Undergoing a Radiological Examination

This questionnaire will be used only for the purpose of facilitating today's medical examination. If you have any questions or concerns while completing this form, please inform the reception staff or the radiologic technologist.

Radiological examinations during pregnancy may affect the fetus depending on the type of examination and the body part being imaged. To ensure that you can undergo the examination safely, we will ask about the possibility of pregnancy, so please answer accurately.

Please fill in the two boxed sections below.

Is there a possibility that you are currently pregnant?

- ☐ No
- ☐ Yes *
- ☐ Not sure *

* This question is only for those who answered "Yes" or "Not sure" regarding the possibility of pregnancy. When did your last normal menstrual period begin?

Year 年 Month 月 Day 日から

Note: This refers to a period that occurred at the expected time with your normal amount of menstrual flow.

After receiving an explanation from the radiologic technologist, please check one of the boxes:

- ☐ I understand the explanation and agree to undergo the examination.
- ☐ I choose to postpone today's examination.
